

Pembrokeshire Coast National Park Authority

Location information for filming enquiries

This document provides initial information which may be useful for those interested in filming on land in the Pembrokeshire Coast National Park.

Ownership of the National Park

The Pembrokeshire Coast National Park is not owned by the Pembrokeshire Coast National Park Authority.

The Authority does own parcels of land within the Park, along with many other landowners. Permission should be sought from the relevant landowner prior to any filming being undertaken.

If you wish to film on National Park Authority land, a charge may apply and you may be required to complete a licence agreement.

New to the Pembrokeshire Coast?

If you are looking for a particular type of location but you don't know the area and need location suggestions, please start by visiting www.pembrokeshirecoast.org.uk/60views to browse through some of the most breathtaking views in the Park.

Parcels of land on the Pembrokeshire Coast Path National Trail

Parcels of land on the Preseli Hills

Several car parks (search 'car parks' on www.pembrokeshirecoast.org.uk)

Foreshore (beach fronts) on the Pembrokeshire Coast

The National Park Authority leases almost all the foreshore along the Pembrokeshire Coast from The Crown Estate (the owners). So if you wish to film on the foreshore please contact the National Park Authority to discuss permission.

There are several key locations which are not leased by the Authority, namely Amroth and Tenby's North, South and Castle beaches, all of which are managed by Pembrokeshire County Council. The foreshore along parts of the Castlemartin Army Range is another exception as it is on land owned by the Ministry of Defence.

Pembrokeshire Coast Path National Trail

The Pembrokeshire Coast Path National Trail is 186-miles long, running from Amroth in the south to St Dogmaels in the north.

It passes across beaches and through towns and villages. The Park Authority only owns small pockets of land along the Path. Different sections of the Path are owned by different organisations and individuals so please note it is not possible to receive blanket permission to film along the whole of the Coast Path.

If you would like to film in a particular location on the Coast Path and you are not sure about ownership, please contact us.
